TLDR for those who are not gonna read all of this: I'm innocent and I have proof of such, the evidence used against me is poor and I withheld some information for someone's safety.

Alright, yep. This is a response about some people accusing me of being the so-called THH (Team High Horse).

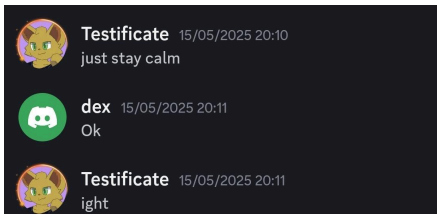
I'm not gonna go into anymore detail abt THH as their previous activities are well known in RTR, such as the hacking of Tem's Wiki.

Apparently, I've been called a member (or the sole person) in THH. This document serves to shut down claims of such misconstrued evidence against me. The timeline as follows

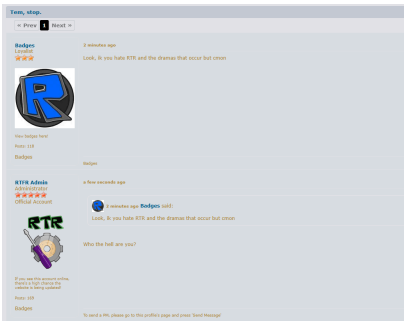
- Starting off with the incident (I believe it was around 1:45pm GMT?) when mnep5 (I will call him M5) said “give it back”, this is when I believe this incident took place, as I was in college doing a project.

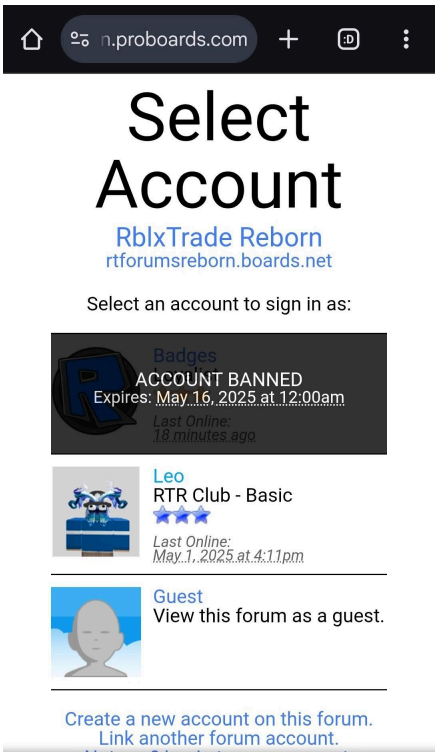
- Since I was doing said project, I didn't respond until 40 minutes later. M5 then went and accused tem of hacking the website, as himself and I had contact.

- Tem was understandably freaking out as it wasn't him. THH had put him as admin to make it seem he was the one who did it. He was freaking out, and I told him to calm down.



- To end day 1 of the hacking, believing it to be tem (in between the first and last screenshot), I called out tem to stop. THH then banned my account.





- I do not have any other screenshots for day 2, as the site was deleted. 2 years worth of history and over I think 10 thousand threads? Ouch.

Anyways, you know the story. But today I received word from Tem that people started to claim I was THH. I was understandably confused, as why would I delete 2 years worth of threads. People in my close circle can agree I care about preservation. It's one of the reasons why I collect games and is heavily invested in Roblox's ever expanding history.

Are you sure
Highly doubt it

Why would leo just randomly stumble across thh in 2023
Plus they talk the same way
Pretty damning

I'm trying to defend myself as that I ain't THH. If mnep doesn't believe me, could you vouch? I'm innocent in all this. (edited)

The evidence is as easy to debunk.

Out of everything that happened during those two days, this is what was brought to my attension.

The first screenshots were taken 2 years ago. This is when an account @_DeadInternet went under the alias named SelloutGimmick. And I responded “YOOOO!”, which was replied to 6 minutes later.

Thing is, I haven't been 100% honest with you.

While the account wasn't mine, I knew the guy behind it. He was an irl friend named Sam, who used to run RTR forumotion for a brief period.

He signed up after I convinced him, he has a habit of making several emails as he doesn't like password guesses. No idea why he does it, as he does literally nothing on most accounts I know of. He only did it as he too wanted to get popular, not by shitposting on a main account like M1das, but a gimmick account exposing other gimmicks for being sellouts. He was active for a few short months but gradually went inactive as he didn't feel like it anymore.

You see, back in 2023, Sam and I were Initially doing IT for our course, part of which was cybersecurity, finding weaknesses in websites and improving the security. Sam was always a “Nonce” so he'd mess shit up and always said “I only do this because I feel good after” like some sort of psychopath.

I haven't heard from him until DURING the incident when THH shoutout his twitter during the incident. I kept this information quiet as I didn't want yall to witch-hunt him. he's a nonce yes, but we got along. To which I apologise for withholding the information.

Regarding the last screenshot, this was taken out of context. m5 and I were discussing m5's potential purchase of the Rblx.trade domain.

This is why I'm not that upset about RTR rn
once we're on RT, RTR will be forgotten and regarded as a dark age (if everything goes as planned)
But i won't make any promises for RT

If you still don't believe I didn't do it, here is the metadata from the exact day and time span of day 1. This was my work.
